Stem cells are cultured from cells collected from our patients. Upon reaching a certain number, these stem cells are administered to the patient's tissue through an intravenous or local injection to repair the tissue functions, regenerate blood vessels, reduce inflammation and promote formation of damaged nerves.

1 Chronic Pain Treatment

Regenerative Medicine provides a fundamental treatment for chronic or unexplained pain by repairing damaged cells and suppressing inflammation.

2 Alopecia Treatment

Regenerative Medicine provides a fundamental treatment for alopecia by resetting the hair growth cycle and encouraging hair to transition from resting phase (Telogen) to growth phase (Anagen) again.

3 ACRS

Cytokine and growth factors are amplified and extracted from the patient's blood and used to revive firm, glowing and healthy skin.

4 Skin Renewal

Concentrated blood platelets are administered to the skin to reduce wrinkles, sagging and nasolabial folds (laugh lines).
